Police Busy With Burglary Investigations

Bay St. Louis police are investigating seven burglaries that occurred over the weekend. On Saturday an undetermined amount of clothing was stolen from Anthony's located at Main St. and Dunbar Ave. Six places were broken into Sunday including Globe Laundry, the Selective Service office, Main St. United Methodist Church, City-County Library and the law offices of George Lipscomb and Haas and Haas.

Police chief William Carls said that these were still under investigation.

During the period from March 16 through March 23, eight cases of breaking and entering were also reported to the police.

They were: Chicken Hut (March 16 and March 23); an automobile parked at the corner of Booker St. and Old Spanish Trail (March 19); Christ Episcopal Day School (March 20); North Bay Elementary School (March 22); Bay Junior High School (March 23); and the Bay View Restaurant (March 23).

All are still under investigation.

STUMPS REMOVED

H. Bully Zengering, Beat Four supervisor, has announced that he will be glad to clear out broken pier pilings and stumps from beaches between Nicholson Ave. and Washington St. on request of beach front property owners. Zengering is offering the service, at no cost to the property owner, as part of the beach cleaning program now in progress by all five supervisors.

Property owners wanting pilings cleared may call the supervisors' office in the Court House, 467-5012, to file a request.

MONEY NEEDED

The Bay St. Louis Volunteer Fire Department is asking for funds to finance the purchase of fire fighting equipment. All contributions should be mailed to Jim Rutherford, 424 Main St., Bay St. Louis.

NO PICKUP

Because of the religious holiday of Good Friday, March 31, no garbage pickup will be made on that day. Instead, the area due for pickup on Friday will be serviced on Saturday, April 1.

Friday Watch - As in former years we ask the men and boys of the Parish to keep watch before the Blessed Sacrament from 12:00 (midnight) until 5:00 a. m. We would like to have at least 5 people for each of these hours. Fathers, bring your sons. This is once a year chance to share your faith with him. In the vestibule on either side of the Church you will find a list of the hours. Please sign up for the hour of your choice, but do not pick an hour that already has several names. If there is still one with very few.

The women of the Parish are asked to keep watch from 8:00 p. m. until midnight. The American Bishop has instructed us to remove the Blessed Sacrament to a private place before dawn of Good Friday. Thus, there is no Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament on Good Friday.

Good Friday: 3:00 p. m. - Liturgy of the Cross (Adoration of the Cross and Communion); 7:00 p. m. - Stations of the Cross and Homily.

Good Friday is a day of fast and abstinence. Holy Saturday: 10:00 p. m. Mass of Easter Vigil. There will be no Saturday evening Mass at 7:00 p. m.

Easter Sunday: Masses at both Our Lady of the Gulf and St. Joseph's Chapel will be at the usual times. 11:30 High Mass, of Resurrection. Renewal of Baptism at all Easter Masses.

Firemen To Attend Training Programs

An intensive training course in fire suppression and fire equipment will begin April 9 under the direction of Pass Christian Fire Chief George Mixon and Waveland Volunteer Fire Chief Kenneth Fayard. Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Richard Fayard, who made the announcement Wednesday, said the classes will be open to all regular and volunteer fire department personnel from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, East Hancock, Pearlinton and Kiln Volunteer Fire Depts.

Dates and times of classes will be announced later, Fayard said. Attendance at the classes will be mandatory for members of the Bay St. Louis regular firemen. All sessions will be held in the new Fire and Police headquarters in Valens C. Jones building on Old Spanish Trail. The installation is under construction by Bay Operation Upturn and Fayard said he plans to move in the first week in April.

The entire second wing of the building has been renovated to accommodate the Fire Dept. and will include office spaces, sleeping quarters, a kitchen, classrooms and rest rooms. Special automatic doors are being installed at the end of the wing in which the fire engine will be housed, with equipment maintenance areas.

The upcoming training course will be followed by another May 12 under the auspices of the state fire school commandant, James S. Hart, Jr. All the above units will attend as well as West Harrison County fire departments. The schools will be held in Bay St. Louis.

WHAT'S A HOUSEWIFE TO DO?
BY JULIE FONTAINE

Today's woman is more sophisticated than in days gone by, and when it comes to buying products that pertain to her family, she is far more selective. She has more stores to shop in, unit pricing and competitive advertising trying to entice her. Reading labels at the supermarket has become the rule instead of the exception. Years ago, she might have been ashamed to buy the less costly brands but today it's smart to buy right!

Washday products, particularly modern phosphate-free detergents, are an outstanding example of this evolution of shopping habits. For a long time, women were chained to the brands promoted on the "Soap Opera." They felt that certain risk was involved of which the cost of the detergent was only a small part. The entire wash load could be ruined, she felt, and more seriously the health of the family was at stake.

Recently, however, the homemaker has recognized that the store brands and the lesser known brands not only do the job as well as the better advertised brands, but for many fabrics they do the job better. And, through experience, she found that her finest items were completely safe.

Thus, through test and trial, these products have earned the confidence of the housewife. Instead of the phosphates which are charged with polluting the nation's waters, these products use that well recognized laundry substance, washing soda. In addition, they supply the brighteners, the bleach and the boosters. You get loads of deep, rich, active suds to make your laundry chore a one-step operation. Follow the garment manufacturer's directions and you'll be pleased with the results.

Marshall Lithographs On Exhibit In Bay

A SPINNAKER BILLOWS on a racing boat in this pen and ink drawing by former Bay St. Louis native Carolyn Marshall.

FAMILIAR SAILING scenes such as this one are depicted in drawings by Carolyn Marshall, now on exhibit at the Bay Window in the Colonial Plaza, Highway 90.

Sailboats and seascapes are the focal point of a series of lithographs by Carolyn Marshall, now on exhibit at the Bay Window, in the Colonial Plaza on Highway 90.

Ships under sail are a familiar sight to most Gulf Coastians and particularly nostalgic to Carolyn Marshall, who grew up in Bay St. Louis where she skippered her first sailboat at the age of 10.

Now an accomplished artist and a resident of Austin, Texas, Marshall has been painting and drawing for over 20 years. The lithographs now on exhibit are taken from pen and ink drawings by the artist, a technique which allows her to portray details of the sails, rigging and hardware which she so admires in sailing vessels.

Miss Marshall's extensive training in art includes a B.F.A. from Tulane University and an M.F.A. from the University of Texas. She also studied at the Art Students League in New York and at the Columbia University where she was a teacher of drawing and design for several years, but now devotes her entire time to painting marine scenes.

Betty Drury, owner of the Bay Window, said she was especially pleased to be able to exhibit Miss Marshall's work as the artist and her family were known to so many area residents.

How to Keep Your Dog Healthy and Happy

Your dog gives you his love and trust completely, showing you that you are his life. It is the best way to keep him happy.

Keeping him healthy is a responsibility, not an emotion. See to his particular health needs just like any other member of the family. For example, his booster shots and annual physicals.

It is often said that distemper occurs only in the young dog. But veterinarians tell us this just isn't true. Distemper can occur at any age, although the young dog is most susceptible. Serious! Very! But only if you neglect arranging for his yearly boosters. So, don't neglect them.

To simplify matters, have his annual physical made at the same time as the yearly boosters. The ears, teeth, eyes, heart and general body condition can be checked. Catching early warning signs here and having them promptly attended to is the wise and loving rule to follow.

Is Your Dog One of Those Flop-Eared Beauties?

If so, you should be aware that the normal circulation of air through his ear canals is somewhat impaired. This means you should check them occasionally. As you would your child's ears to keep them clean and dry. Otherwise, the accumulation of dirt and moisture tends to get warm, becoming a potent source of infection.

If your dog has already started shaking his head and scratching his ears, have him examined and treated by your veterinarian. This probably won't happen again if you remember to keep his ears clean.

Forestry Report

A special investigation by the Mississippi Forestry Commission is currently underway in Hancock County in connection with several recent forest fires believed to be the acts of woods arsonists.

According to County Forester Mike Hendry, a special investigator has been called in to assist him and local commission crews in gathering clues and information which may lead to the arrest and conviction of the arsonist.

Earlier investigations turned up substantial evidence that several forest fires occurring recently in the Kiln area of the county were deliberately set, Hendry said. He indicated they had several suspects in mind.

Most of the land in this area is owned by private landowners. Hendry stated as soon as the investigations are completed, the evidence will be turned over to the County Attorney for prosecution.

Woods arson is a felony in Mississippi and carries a sentence of up to two years in prison, or $1,000.00 fine, or both. According to Hendry, any person willfully or maliciously setting fire on any land not his own, is guilty of woods arson. Investigation and enforcement of fire laws in cooperation with local law enforcement officials is a responsibility of the Forestry Commission.

The County Forester pointed out that a $500.00 reward has been offered by the Mississippi Forestry Association to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of a woods arsonist. The Forestry Association, not to be confused with the State Forestry Commission, is an organization composed of tree farmers, businessmen, and others interested in forestry.

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Noel, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

The column is prepared this week by Ronnie Hague, Minister of Music and Youth, First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis. JESUS CHRIST, SUPER SAVIOR

Countless times I have been asked the question "What do you think of the Rock opera Jesus Christ-Superstar?" As a musician I must say that I think it is some of the most phenomenal music to be written in this century. As a Christian, however, I must say that it sells Jesus short. Superstar portrays Jesus as a man of high moral standards, who lived and died, influencing many lives. Fine, that is exactly what he did, except for one small detail. He is still alive. You see, "Superstar" doesn't reveal the fact that Jesus knew his purpose here, knew that he was 100 per cent God and 100 per cent man. The only God-man who ever lived.

"Superstar" would have you believe that Jesus died for a cause, but the cause he died for was because you and I aren't perfect. You see, God looks at our righteousness "as filthy rags" and the Bible tells us that there are... "none righteous, no not one". What possible hope do we have then of pleasing God enough for Him to honor us on the day of His coming? Through Jesus Christ we can be accepted into God's forever family, as an adopted member, as a son of God, as a brother of Jesus Christ.

Jesus Christ could not have been just a good man. Too many great men have been born and lived phenomenal lives to support that theory. After Napoleon had conquered most of Europe, been defeated and exiled, he realized the greatest truth ever to touch his life as he later wrote: "He was born in an obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was thirty. He then became an itinerant preacher. He never held an office. He never had a family or owned a house. He didn't go to college. He had no credentials but himself. Nineteen centuries have come and gone, and today He is the central figure of the human race. All the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned have not affected the life of man on this earth as much as that one solitary life."

Mexican

Fiesta Party

A Mexican fiesta party is fun to give and guests always enjoy the gay, light-hearted mood that goes with a fiesta. This is a good party for the outdoors and Mexican decorations are both inexpensive and colorful. Use brightly colored tablecloths and paper flowers for a big, splashy effect. There are also paper plates available in colorful designs which are decorative and also will cut down on your clean-up problems.

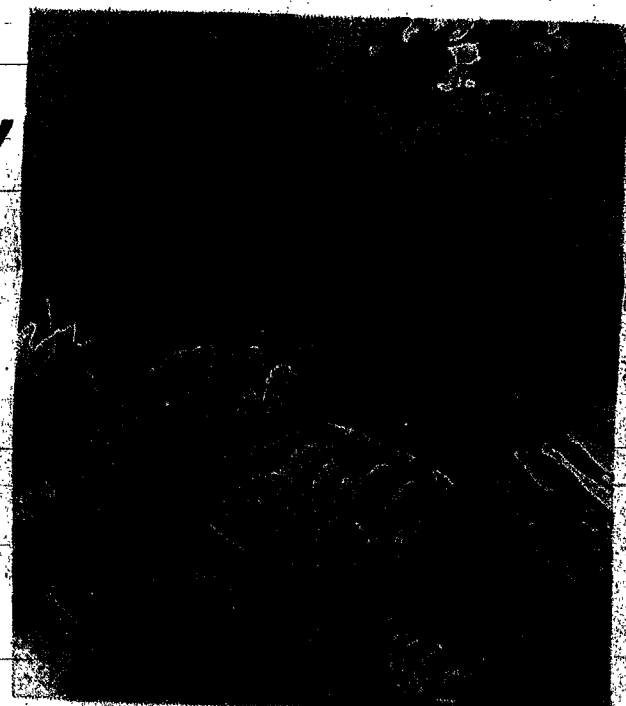

You might even have one of the Mexican pinatas hanging. For those of you unfamiliar with the pinata, this is a big clay pot covered with cardboard and tissue paper and shaped like an animal, flower or any number of things. This clay pot is filled with fruits, candies and small unbreakable gifts and hung from a rope, possibly from a tree limb. Each guest is blindfolded and given a stick to break the pinata while the other guests try to swing it out of his reach. When someone finally breaks the pinata there is a shower of party favors. These are generally used for children's parties but we think it can be fun for any age group.

Suggest your guests wear Mexican-type apparel to fit the theme of your party. The boys might wear white pants and perhaps they can devise some sort of serapes, sombreros or even a fake mustache. The girls might wear ruffled blouses and full Mexican-type skirts.

Invitations for your party might read, "Come South of the Border to the Hacienda of (Last Name). Bring your guitar or any other type of instrument for all." Address your invitations as Senor for the boys and Senorita for the girls.

You'll want your menu to be typical of Mexico and the main ingredients of almost any Mexican food includes tomatoes, chili peppers and corn. Mexican food was derived from the Aztecs or Spaniards. In fact, did you know that the Spaniards were responsible for introducing eggs from the domestic hen as food? Corn, too, plays a very large part in Mexican cookery as it forms the basis for tortillas, tamales, tacos and all the familiar Mexican foods. Tortillas, we are told are considered a type of bread for Mexico. Tacos are small tortillas which have been filled with various foods, then rolled or folded with the filling.

Tacos, which have been called the Mexican sandwich, would be a good choice for your party menu. They are not difficult and can be made in quantities to feed large groups. You will want to make a meat filling for the taco shells and then have small bowls of shredded lettuce, cheese and

LEWIS & CLARK expedition

MEN WHO SERVED THEIR COUNTRY WELL

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 added a vast new territory to the United States. Most of this 919,039 square miles had not even been explored. President Thomas Jefferson sent the Lewis and Clark Expedition to find out what the newly acquired region was like.

Starting at St. Louis in May 1804, Lewis and Clark started up the Missouri in flatboats. Their budget for this history-making event was $2,500.

The courageous party of the two leaders, 26 soldiers, 2 interpreters and a negro servant journeyed through the vast wilderness until they reached the Pacific Ocean 18 months later.

The Lewis and Clark Expedition encountered every hardship known... and as one account says that the travelers lacked "every necessity but that gallant spirit with which each member of the party was so well endowed."

Arriving in St. Louis in September 1806, the Expedition had covered 9,000 miles in 27 months... opened up the way of trade and settlement, and gave the United States a strong claim to the Oregon Territory against the rival claim of England.

These men knew the true spirit that helped make America great!

On a more cheerful note are the thousands of records of marriages, and we like to relive with the happy couples the gaiety of the occasions.

Elizabeth L. made sure of being a June bride in 1837 by marrying Stephen W. on the 22nd day of the month, Olivia R.

Genealogy enthusiasts certainly must have noted the reprints of newspaper items of long ago about Mississippi people which appeared in many of the old historical journals. The items mainly covered marriage, death and estate notices and probably have been of some value in tracing family connections through the years.

The main interest of the casual reader, however, is in the human side of the lives that they reveal. With a little imagination one can picture many long-forgotten scenes of happiness and sorrow that these people experienced. There are, for instance, many notices of the deaths of young people like Miss Mary P. in 1846; he was 75, she was 17.

The obituary notices support statistics that life expectancy in those days was considerably lower than it is today. Notices of them give the age of the deceased, but those that do not list ages in the late 20's and 30's. It is sad to think of all the young men and women who died so early in life and to imagine the heartbreak in countless homes that followed their passing. On the other hand, there are thousands of weddings listed, and one can picture the parties and celebrations that followed them, especially when Beatina N. married Thomas B. in Pearlport on Christmas Day, 1844, and Sophia S. wed John H. on Christmas Eve.

A milestone in general reference encyclopedias has been established with the 50th Anniversary Edition of COMPTON'S Encyclopedia. This bright up-to-date set for fourth grade through adulthood is completely revised, has many new timely articles, prepared by experts, an expanded FactIndex that opens the alphabetically arranged broad topics for both specific information and browsing enjoyment and a handsome graphic binding that is a panorama of man's hopes, dreams and accomplishments.

Keyed for innovative curriculum designs, general home use and library reference, the more than eight million words, thousands of four-color illustrations and the FactIndex in each of the volumes gives credibility to the notion that no one needs to be uninformed in the latter quarter of the twentieth century. For example, some of the major articles are geology and man's relationship to himself and his environment; biological clocks; bio-engineering; cryogenics; women and women's rights; finally got Roger W. on June 8, 1845, after an engagement of 7 years. James W's marriage to Nancy P. in '45 didn't turn out as well as expected; for James died a no responsibility notice a year and a half later. Incidentally the only one among hundreds of marriage announcements. Also there is only one divorce notice among them from the middle of '30's to the mid-forties.

All of the marriages were not among young people. Mrs. E.P., aged 53 years, married Mr. H. in 1835; he was 104 years old. The Rev. James P. was wed to Miss Mary P. in 1846; he was 75, she was 17.

H.N.C. PRINCIPAL.....

him only, "Let's see if it's as good as what they had at Notre Dame". (Volvedich was principal at Notre Dame High School in Biloxi before coming to North Central.)

Larsen then asked Hubbard if a student who had been accused of setting a fire in the school had been expelled. Hubbard and Randolph both affirmed that the boy was, in fact, expelled. Larsen said that on the investigation of the boy's parents he had consulted Volvedich who both times denied that he had expelled the student.

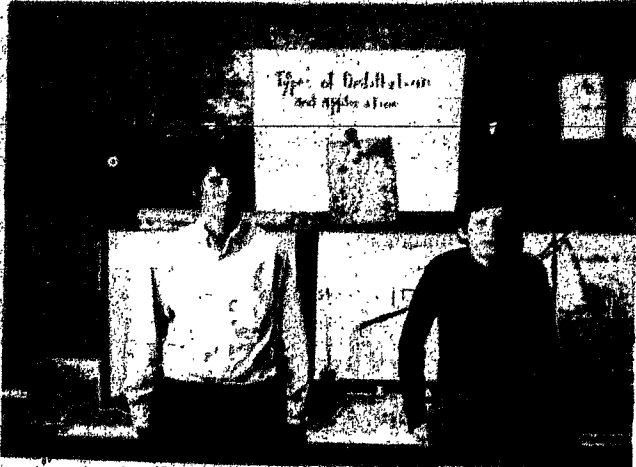

Larsen and board member Ed Ortle vehemently stated that the principal cannot expel a student and that expulsion is strictly the prerogative of the school board.

Ortle stated that even though he had not previously spoken to either of the teachers present, he had not been satisfied with Volvedich in the past and was less so now. He said, "That's a big school up there and we've had trouble every year. We've got to do something about it now."

Two other board members, Larsen and "Red" Davis agreed with Ortle in his opinion of Volvedich. Davis reminded the board that McCarty's predecessor, Eugene Ladner, had hired Volvedich following much public controversy over the previous principal.

McCarty told the board that in his opinion more organization was needed at the school and with their permission he would confer with the faculty in August and tell each if "he's not willing to cooperate, he's out".

Larsen retorted that that isn't the superintendent's or the board's duty, it is the principal's.

The matter of the principal living on campus was then brought up. Under questioning McCarty admitted that Volvedich understood that a contractual stipulation was that he live on campus. At the present, Volvedich lives in Gulfport and commutes daily. The board then decided to continue teacher evaluations and employment recommendations at this meeting. A special meeting will be called to discuss the building program.

TWO APPOINTED....

Fayard hopes to achieve a new image for the Bay firemen, he said, and steps have already been taken to furnish uniforms and protective clothing for regulars. Uniform shirts and trousers, badges and insignia will be worn on duty and the city has already ordered bunker gear for the men. Bunker gear includes heavy boots, helmets, coats and pants necessary for protection when fire fighting, Fayard explained. The boots which arrived this week have been stenciled for identification as will the other articles as they arrive.

The above uniforms as well as needed equipment for the fire truck will be financed totally through the State Fire Insurance, rebates being made to Mississippi municipalities, so will be acquired at no cost to the city, he said.

Fire truck equipment already ordered includes hydrant wrenches, two new fire axes (already delivered), and bids have been advertised for 1,000 feet of two and a half inch hose, and 600 feet of one and a half inch hose.

In an effort to similarly equip the volunteer firemen, Volunteer Chief James Rutherford has sent out letters to business people and individuals throughout the city asking for help in equipping the men who volunteer their time and efforts toward fire protection for the city.

Commentary

by Susan Irby

(Because readers are often curious about newspaper work, Susan Irby, news director of the Echo's Pass Christian-Lake Beach edition has written three articles about the "plight" of a reporter working for a weekly newspaper. The first article in the three-part series appears in "Commentary". Miss Irby's weekly column in the Pass-Long Beach edition.)

A newspaper reporter is often approached by generally well-meaning people on the street who marvel at meeting someone who makes his living by being nosy. These people view the reporter's job as exciting, challenging, fulfilling, and otherwise fun.

In an effort not to squelch such rumors but rather, in good journalistic style, to present the facts and let the reader make his own evaluation, for the next few weeks, I will be relating the more historic events in a typical reporter's career.

So you want to be a reporter, eh? Here's how—First, it is imperative that you come from a metropolitan city to work on a small-town newspaper. In the large city when you asked for directions, the answer was always given in elements of time-hours or minutes away-combined with interstate numbers and exit names.

So, when you come to the small town and meet the challenge of covering your first fire, you're told the fire is gutting Roy Nix's dry goods store. Confidently, you inquire for directions. You know you're in trouble when you find out the street Roy Nix's dry goods store is on has no name.

"Well, maam, you take the North road up by Wally Brown's angus farm, turn right about six fence posts past his wife's rock garden-have you seen Gladys' rock garden yet-and follow the shell road until you come to the EZ Foods," a life-long resident explains.

"Now when you pass the EZ Foods, you have to go real slow for about three miles, cause old lady Wharton lets her chickens run loose," he says. "When the feathers start thinning out on the side of the road, you take the next turn left, turn right at the 13th telephone pole, and you can't miss it."

You arrive at the site of the fire in time to meet the insurance adjusters returning. You control hysteria which has been compounded by dodging chickens, losing count twice at the 11th telephone pole, and backing one-half mile down a one-lane road when confronted by a persistent pickup truck driver traveling the opposite direction. Fighting tears, you grope your way back to town and go to the fire station to get a second hand report, only to find out that the city fire department did not aid in the fire due to territorial boundaries. The store owner put the fire out himself and immediately left for a vacation financed with his insurance money.

To complete your day, you find out that while you were seeing the countryside, a tractor-trailer jumped the seawall and blocked traffic on the beach road for three hours. At the end of the day, all you have to show for your efforts are 50 miles on your speedometer and 50,000 chicken feathers meshed in your wheel covers. Your competitor has a fantastic spot news picture and a clean car.

NEXT WEEK: City council meetings: Tuesday night at the Movies' competition.

COMING SOON: The camera; A machine with a mind of its own.

Police Training Programs Planned

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

William Carbonette said, and classes in the use of firearms and marksmanship will be conducted for members of the police department.

The Mayor has also approved the organization of a Junior Police Association program to be open to all Bay St. Louis boys between the ages of 10 and 18. Carbonette has outlined the program to include lectures on safety, bicycle and motor bike rules and laws, crime prevention and other related topics.

GARBAGE PICKUP

Some confusion has resulted from the change in garbage pickup during the past few weeks. To clear this misunderstanding the following schedule is again announced by the city's sanitation department:

On Mondays and Thursdays: Pickup on these days will be made throughout the area from Beach Boulevard to Dunbar Avenue, St. Francis Street and Old Spanish Trail.

On Tuesdays and Fridays: Pickup on these days will be made throughout the area from Dunbar Avenue, St. Francis Street, and Old Spanish Trail to the new corporate limits of the city.

SPECIAL PERFORMANCE

Some of the cast of the Variety Show, which enjoyed a successful two-day engagement at Bay St. Louis Little Theatre last weekend, entertained in a special performance last night at Gulf View Haven Nursing Home. The cast, composed of non-professional members of the community, donated time and talents last week for the benefit of the theatre's building fund.

CLOTHES NEEDED

Students from the Lakeshore School for Special Education will soon participate in the Special Olympics in Gulfport. However, money is needed to provide shirts, shorts and tennis shoes for the children. Any individuals or organizations wishing to make a donation should mail it to Mrs. William Lamb, 634 N. Beach, Bay St. Louis. Checks should be made payable to Hancock Assn. for Retarded Children.

gymnasium, Carbonette said, and classes in the use of firearms and marksmanship will be conducted for members of the police department.

The Mayor has also approved the organization of a Junior Police Association program to be open to all Bay St. Louis boys between the ages of 10 and 18. Carbonette has outlined the program to include lectures on safety, bicycle and motor bike rules and laws, crime prevention and other related topics.

Members of the Auxiliary Police force will assist the chief in administration of the Junior Assn., Carbonette said. Junior Assn. members will have regularly scheduled meetings in addition to available classes and lectures. A program of recreation is also promised, such as dances and basketball games in the gym, a baseball team and outdoor activities.

After a training and indoctrination period the Junior Police Assn. will function as an approved segment of the City Police Dept., working on a volunteer basis to supplement the Auxiliary Police force.

Chief Carbonette stated that any boys interested in joining the Junior Assn. are welcome to contact him at the new police headquarters in the rear of Valena C. Jones School.

Carbonette said he plans to make full use of the building gymnasium for police training and Jr. Assn. programs.

ATTENDING SCHOOL

Four members of the Bay St. Louis fire and police departments are attending a two-week Specialized School in Law Enforcement, at the Police Training Center in Gulfport.

Attending from the Police Department are Ptm. Emmett Ellis and Aux. Ptm. Harold Helms. Asst. Fire Chief Edward Fillion and Fireman Al Arnold are attending from the Fire Dept.

Book Review

(In most cases, all books whether they are written for children or for adults, are REVIEWED by adults. But a child knows what other children might like—right? For that reason, two students from Christ Episcopal Day School were asked to write a book review for the Echo. They were given only one guideline—BE HONEST. And they were.)

ONLY THE NAMES REMAIN: THE CHEROKEES AND THE TRAIL OF TEARS by Alex Bealer (Little Brown and Co., $5.75)

This was a sad but true story of how the Cherokee tribe was driven from their beloved homeland, Georgia. The government had promised them their land, and then the land was gradually stolen back by greedy gold-miners. There were unfair laws, like the one stating that a Cherokee couldn't mine gold, even on their own land. If a man killed a Cherokee nothing would happen, but if a Cherokee killed a white man he went to prison.

Finally the Cherokees were driven by foot to Arkansas. So many people died on the way, it was called the trail of tears.

I recommend this book to anyone who ever thinks of how cruel our civilization can be.

Alane Carlson, 11, 5th Grade

A MONSTER TOO MANY by Janet McNeill (Little, Brown and Co., $3.50)

I think this book was good because the author and the illustrator used their imagination well. I thought this book was interesting because things were always happening and it kept my attention to it. I think this is worth reading. I am sure you would like it if you like to read. You may find it at a library, a book store or anywhere books are sold.

It is about two boys when they are in the park and meet a monster. The monster understands what you say. One day all of a sudden the monster is not in the park pond anymore.
